GOOD, OLD-FASHIONED STOREKEEPERS

THE Orton FAMILY BUSINESS

SINCE 1946

Back in 1946 when Vrest and Mildred Ellen Orton hand-printed and mailed the first catalog to the 1,000 people on their Christmas card list, they had no idea that their modest offering of "36 Items You Can Buy Now" would grow into an enduring American company. The Vermont Country Store is well-loved by lifelong customers and renowned coast-to-coast as The Purveyors of the Practical and Hard-to-Find.

Vrest Orton, a frugal Yankee at heart, founded The Vermont Country Store with an unwavering commitment to products that must be useful, work, and make sense. Today, this Orton family tradition is carried on by Lyman Orton and his sons Cabot, Gardner, and Eliot, 7th & 8th generation Vermonters and 3rd & 4th generation storekeepers.
